Arthur Seagren was over from the San Joaquin for the week-end with his family here.

Mrs. Byron W. Gray has received a cablegram announcing the arrival of her husband, Lieutenant Gray, safely overseas.

Miss Dixie Isham spent a few hours here Friday with her aunt, Mrs. Minnie Lewis. She came down to attend a farewell party for one of Uncle Sam's boys in San Jose.

Marine and soldier uniforms were quite in evidence in Campbell over Sunday, both home boys and visitors. Among the former were Edgar Pierce, William Lloyd, Gilmore Duncan and Robert Kennedy. Charlie Hancock of the U. S. N., was also saying hello, to the home folks.

The J. F. Duncan and Easton Carter families are planning to spend the first two weeks of September at Capitola. Their vacation has been delayed by the illness of various members of the families, no two being generous enough to succumb at the same time, but each demanding the stage all to himself.

Mrs. A. A. Purmort, who was called to Seattle some three months ago on account of the illness of her mother, returned Sunday, her mother having passed away, the twelfth of August. She was accompanied by her father, Mr. Thomas Holden, who will make his home with his daughter. Mr. Holden has lived in Seattle for nine years, coming to that city direct from Manchester, England.

New "Y" Work

We are in receipt of an interesting letter from "Parson George" in regard to his new Y. M. C. A. work. He was leaving Sunday for Tillamook, Oregon, "where the rainfall is 100 or more inches. I guess few places are wetter even if it is in a prohibition state. I'll have to organize the work in 9 camps and keep it going. Some job, believe me.'

His position is that of Religious Work Director for the spruce camps where lumber for the aviation department is gotten out.

As we noted before Rev. Atkinson has resigned his pastorate at Martinez to take up this work. He would have liked foreign service but volunteers for that work are easier to get than for this.

The following excerpts relate to work in which he had been engaged, with Fort Stevens, Oregon, as headquarters.

"I wouldn't have missed being here just before we sent out the Umpty Nth. A dandy set of fellows, and how glad they were to get started for the big trip. I had offered to go into quarantine with them, but the Q. M. didn't have a tent and before the tent came their trains were reported in, so I went not, but when the men heard that I had offered to share quarantine with them it was touching in a way to hear what they said to a fellow, especially one of the lieutenants. Then the little chances that a secretary has for bits of talks with the men as they start off on the big adventure is really mighty inspirational. They plan on coming back, but no one knows and with all the jolly fun they have, they are ready for the other word, if it is given in the right way.

I fancy the duties of a "Y" sceretary are a good deal the same all over our camps, but just before the boys go there are some rather delightful things we are called upon to do. Witness wills, hunt up the fellows, go to Astoria to cash telegraphic money orders, take charge of lost relatives and see they get their train. Some of that sounds quite unimportant! know, but it by a bit of work or effort we can help a homesick mother or bride to see her loved one, or help a lad who is leaving home to have a quiet place to say goodbye, well, I am glad to do it. You see we were under quarantine orders until after the boys left, so it threw lots of extra work on us. The last night we did not close till after midnight, some of the friends had no place to go.

Next Sunday I am ordered out into the Piney Woods, where no civilians are allowed. Four army officers and four of us Y men are to make a tour of all the camps in the Clatsop district. I do not know just what the plans are but it will be interesting to say the least. I only wish I could tell you all about it afterwards. But as no one unless he is in uniform can enter, I fear I can't write you about the trip. When we get into the woods, our passes will be almost like passports, with our photos, descriptions, signatures and all that, but from some recent things they find they have to be very careful."

Address me at Tillamook, Oregon, in care of Army Y. M. C. A. (There isn't any Army Y there till I get there.)

Love and best wishes to all,

Parson George.

Letter From Front

July 31, 1918.

Dearest Mama—

Received yours and Harriet's letters of June 25th last night and very glad to hear from you as it was the first mail in 2 or 3 weeks, as we have been on the move and naturally the P. O. wasn't handling any mail.

I guess I can tell you now that I was in the Alsace region, as we have left there now. It was very "tame" to what we see where I am now. Am sending a newspaper clipping one of the fellows got from home.

I am "sitting pretty" for a while anyway as I have a room in a fine old chateau, with a fine feather bed, tile floor, and all that sort of thing. Some of the roof is blown off and the windows are all out, but it's the most comfortable bed I've had in a long time. These big shells can sure wreck a town. You see some houses almost levelled, others half blown away, and as usual the church and hospitals got their share.

I suppose you are reading the good news of how the French and Americans are going ahead.

I wont have time to answer Harriet's letter as I have to get in my sleep during the day. I am all O. K., feeling fine except for being a little tired out.

Yesterday I was sleeping, but not very sound, when I heard a woman talking in real American, so I poked my head out of the window and there was a Red Cross nurse looking for cups and plates to use in the hospital she was in. So I hunted out all the china in the house that wasn't broken and gave to her and helped her get some more out of other houses. Sure seems good to see an American girl once in a while anyway.

Well I must close and get to bed and get in a little sleep.

With love to all,

Robert P. Dunphy.

The clipping referred to enumerates the different units of all kinds which compose the 32d division, largely made up of Wisconsin and Michigan men. As this division had been identified by the Germans, Washington authorized the announcement that it was fighting in Alsace. That was in June. Among the various trains forming part of this division is the 107th sanitary train to which Robert Dunphy is attached.

Mr. Baugh Injured

This entire community has been in a state of anxiety and deep concern since Friday morning when the news was flashed around that Mr. E. A. Baugh had met with a serious accident.

As he was about to turn into the grounds of the Association Packing Plant on Central avenue, the handlebar of his bicycle was hit by the handlebar of a motorcycle, throwing him to the ground and he struck in such a way as to fracture his skull. He was taken to Dr. Merrill's office and after a hurried examination and application of first aid, was taken at once to Columbia hospital, as he was seen to be in a very serious condition. Remaining unconscious for most of the day, he rallied Saturday morning but later became worse and the physicians finally decided that his only chances lay in an operation to remove the blood clots, which was done Sunday night.

The operation has apparently been successful and he is resting quite comfortably at this time with prospects of continued improvement. His family has every sympathy in their hours of stress and anxiety, and the earnest hope for the restoration of their loved one.

From the statements of several on the street at the time no blame seems to attach to the rider of the machine, young Plifer of San Jose who was on his way to work at Hyde's Cannery.

Dr. W. I. Merrill went to San Francisco Wednesday in regard to his call as he has been notified to report for duty at Goat Island Sept. 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Parso motored to Pacific Grove last Wednesday, returning Sunday. They found the mackerel fishing in Monterey Bay very fine.

Mrs. Harry Watrous and Mrs. George Parso are in attendance at a two day institute of the W. Y. C. A. War Council at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, which convened yesterday.

Rev. C. D. Lewis, brother of Miss Mary Lewis and her nephew and his wife were her guests over Sunday. Rev. Lewis has been at the Presidio for a few weeks assisting in "Y" work and was on his return to his church in Los Angeles.

AMERICANS WASTEFUL, EXTRAVAGANT

By ELIHU ROOT

Modern war is as much a contest of supplies as it is a contest of arms. In every direction the supreme test of the war now is to be found in the capacity of the people to supply the materials necessary to enable armies to go on with the war.

We have not enough of food and clothing and raw material for arms, ammunitions and transportation to make good what it is necessary for us to make good if we are to succeed.

There is but one way in which we can accomplish that, and that is by being more careful and saving in our consumption of the things the armies need. There is no other way.

We are the most wasteful and extravagant people upon the face of the earth. An ordinary American family wastes enough day by day, to support another equally large family in comfort. Unless we can out of our superfluity and by some well-devised machinery, give the benefit of our savings to our armies and the armies of our Allies, then we shall lose the war and after the war we shall lose our liberty, and we shall become a nation bound to do the will and subject to the power of others.

The War-Savings plan requires that each one of us should save something, buy less of this, less of that, save the crust of bread, throw less into the garbage can, wear one dress less, one suit of clothes less, one pair of shoes less, say "No" here, say "No" there—return from our habits of waste and thoughtless expenditure to the habits of our fathers.

Sugar-Patriotism

Sugar and the war have combined forces to put the non-combatant Americans to a big test. They are going to reveal those who are without honor. The family which buys for canning and then uses it to frost cakes is not "putting one over on the government"; it is committing an offense against uprightness and patriotism.

This is America's war, and America's wars are not won alone by the soldiers in the field. They are won by every American standing firmly and honorably behind the man at the front. Any mother would hide her face with shame if her soldier son were caught in a dishonorable act. She knows that the country is trusting him as she trusts him. The country is now trusting her and her family to use just as small an amount as possible; to use every grain which she says she wants for canning, for that purpose; not to run from store to store getting more sugar than is due her. What would a soldier in France think if he knew his family back home was betraying their country's trust?

The grocer does not think you are dishonest when he asks you to sign a certificate saying that you will use your sugar for canning purposes, any more than the public thinks a government official is disloyal when it asks him to sign an oath of office. Do not have an aversion to signing your name in a good cause, and when you do so, stand by it.

Sugar must be saved, and each one of us is in honor bound to save it to the utmost.

LONDON IS STIRRED BY FUEL SAVING

New Gas and Electricity Regulations Fall Heavily on Householders.

The regulations regarding the reduction of the use of gas and electricity have caused considerable feeling in London among households using these supplies for lighting and cooking purposes. The effect of the order has been to place the careful person who has kept down her bills in a more difficult position than her neighbor who has been wasteful.

Many families in view of the coal rationing scheme have installed gas or electricity for heating and warming purposes, and they now find that under the conditions of the order these appliances will be insufficient for their needs.

The object of the order was stated as being the saving of coal, but the effect, especially in the middle-class homes, will be to rely more on the coal fire for cooking and heating purposes than the other means, and as a result more coal will be burned.

The London traffic problem was never in even a fair way of solution until the American experts came over and took the matter in hand some years ago. But they succeeded in doing more than solving the problem of rapid transit—they taught the people to use their systems, and the passenger traffic of London has grown enormously in consequence.

Today experts are needed more than ever as the situation of London traffic under the present condition goes from bad to worse. The commandeering by the military authorities has reduced the supply of motor omnibuses to a mere dribble, while the saving of coal and electricity has caused the withdrawal of many of the surface cars and the subway trains.

In consequence every vehicle is crowded, and to attempt to board either train or car or bus during the rush hours is only a possibility for the athlete.

Militaristic Youngster.

I met a rather forlorn youngster on the street, with his head high, but his lips quivering, and asked what he wanted, without appearing to notice his emotion. He said he could not find his father. He was just around the corner from home, so I took him. A man in khaki came out to meet him. He stooped down to pick the child up and as he did so the boy said: "Daddy, I lost my quarters and I don't like this post."—Chicago Tribune.

"I'd like to look at some dog muzzles," said the man entering the store.

"Yes, sir," replied the clerk with the incipient mustache. "There's a very good muzzle, sir."

"And can a dog chew with this muzzle on?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"But can't bite?"

"Oh, yes, he can bite, but he can't bite off more than he can chew, sir."

RECREATION BIG NEED OF YANKEES

Soldiers Over There Must Be Given Mental and Physical Diversion.

WAR IS MOST DEPRESSING

Standard Oil Official Who Has Been Serving as Y. M. C. A. Secretary Says Soldiers Must Be Saved From Going Insane.

New York.—"If the United States is to be spared the harrowing experience of having thousands of American soldiers returned home because of mental derangements, this country must provide for more physical and mental recreation for our boys overseas."

That's the message which Herbert L. Pratt, vice president of the Standard Oil company, brings to the American people after spending seven weeks in France as a Y. M. C. A. secretary, and who while there was given opportunity to see just what is meant by war.

"During the first 18 months of the war there were as many English and Canadian soldiers returned to England because of mental derangements as there were because of wounds," said Mr. Pratt. "The United States must profit by the experiences of our allies and must plan now to enlarge our facilities overseas for taking care of our men when not actually fighting. The American soldier is naturally higher strung than any of the allied soldiers. He's always on his toes. He's ever alert. Always ready to go. He's a dynamo of energy. And when he isn't actually fighting he seeks an outlet for that energy and it is of vital importance that his energies be directed rightly.

War Is Depressing.

"The war is most depressing. One who rubs against the realities of war is overwhelmed by its seriousness. One marvels at what the men have endured and what they are accomplishing. The war overshadows everything else. And that's all the more reason why everything that will result in cheering up our men should be done now. A great deal is being done but a lot more must be done.

"I wish I could describe just how the war affects one who comes in contact with it. He feels all pent up. His emotions seem all bundled together. And naturally he seeks relief. He welcomes the smile, the laugh, the warm handshake, the word of good cheer. Good cheer! Ah, that's it. It's the 'cheer-up' message that is needed overseas.

"Don't think our boys are downhearted or that they are discouraged. Just the opposite is true. Their morale is excellent. Their spirits are high; their courage is just what it ought to be and they are absolutely confident. But they want that bit of cheer which makes them forget some of the cruelties of war. And we folks at home must see that they get it.

"General Pershing has commissioned the Y. M. C. A. to provide for the physical and mental recreation of the American soldiers and sailors overseas. The association has been given a great big job and in spite of most perplexing difficulties has been doing splendidly. But the great need today is for men, great, big, two-fisted, red-blooded men who are capable of tackling a great big man's job and getting away with it big.

Has a Hard Job.

"Serving as a 'Y. M.' secretary in France is a hard job. The hours are long. The hardships are many. And the responsibilities are tremendous. It isn't merely a case of selling cigarettes or chocolate. That's merely incidental to the big work which is being done. The 'Red Triangle' man is the soldier's pal. And a good pal must always be there with a smile or a word of cheer or a warm handclasp or just whatever it is that is needed. This may sound easy but it's not. It's a hard job.

"The American people must wake up to this genuine need for big men to serve as 'Y. M.' secretaries overseas. They must realize that this service is of the greatest importance to the American soldier and sailor. It's what so frequently makes a soldier on the verge of breakdown because of nervous strain, a soldier fit for service."

WOMAN RUNS A BIG CRANE

Foreman of Philadelphia Plant Says She Is Better Than 60 Per Cent of Men.

Philadelphia.—Miss Catherine Hahn, who operates a five-ton crane at the Tacoma ordnance plant, is said to be the only woman in the country operating a crane of that size. Her foreman declares that she manipulates the crane better than 60 per cent of the men he has seen employed at the same work.

Miss Hahn is five feet six inches tall, weighs 138 pounds and is twenty-five years old. She is robust looking but not extraordinary in point of muscular development.

"I just made up my mind when I came over here to help make guns," she said, "that I was going to do whatever I was told. I had been afraid to climb ladders and I never was a tomboy in my life, but I was determined I wouldn't let anybody scare me; and they haven't. I'm not as tired when I go home at night as I used to be after running a sewing machine."

Fateful Number Figures Prominently in Affairs of Kansas City Couple.

Kansas City, Mo.—It was 13 months ago that William A. Gibson met pretty Anna B. Brown of this city.

"Let's get married on the 13th," he said a few months later. She also agreed to this.

So on the 13th of the month they secured a marriage license. Then a happy thought struck them.

"Let's make it 13 all around," she said.

They were then married on the 13th floor of the Commerce building, in room 913, by Justice E. A. Seltzer.

The novel excuse caused the recorder to give young Ogden a cut price of only $12 and costs.

Money Orders Good in France

They Are Drawn on the "U. S. Army Postal Service" and Only Domestic Fees Are Charged

How to send money to a soldier in France in case of need, has puzzled many parents and relatives of members of the American expeditionary forces. There are several ways, but a certain and easy one is to use United States postal money orders. They can be cashed readily and easily by any payee. Here is the way to do it, according to an official statement by Postmaster W. B. Carlile of Chicago:

"Money orders issued in the United States payable to members of the American expeditionary forces are made out on domestic forms precisely the same as if they were drawn on offices in this country and domestic fees only are charged therefor. Such orders are all drawn on 'U. S. Army Postal Service' without indicating the name of any post office abroad.

"The orders are, of course, delivered to the remitters to be mailed by them to the payee precisely the same as any other mail would be addressed. It is necessary, however, in any such case that the remitter furnish the full military description of the payee, that is, the company, regiment and branch of the service to which he is attached.

"There are many branches of the U. S. army postal service and a money order drawn thereon is payable at any of them. It should be explained, however, that the postal service in France has been militarized, which means that the distribution of the mail has been taken over by the military authorities. The post office department distributes and pouches the mail in the United States, but the war department carries it on its transports and distributes it to the soldiers abroad. The entire administration of the money order service still remains, however, under the post office department.

"The secretary of war has explained that owing to the fact that the military units were moving constantly from place to place, the changes being concealed from everybody except the particular commanding officer, it was necessary to let the mail follow the distribution of supplies. No doubt the soldiers at the front to whom a money order is delivered will turn the order over to the company mail orderly to have it collected and the amount thereof given to him. This office was informed some time ago that the payments were made in France in the money of that country."

Archer, National League's Star Catcher, Comes Back With His Old-Time Speed

Jimmy Archer, once the National league's star catcher when he played with the Chicago Cubs, is doing a remarkable comeback stunt in Pittsburgh.

Archer was released by the Cubs last year because a bunch of crippled fingers prevented him from throwing to bases with his former speed and accuracy. The veteran was passed up by the other National league clubs and retired.

Jimmy Archer.

Manager Bezdek of the Pirates signed Archer to coach the pitchers this season. Archer soon proved that he could catch and throw as well as in former campaigns, with the result that Bezdek is playing him regularly, while the other Pirate catchers—Schmidt, Wagner and Fischer—are sitting on the bench. If Archer doesn't break down there isn't a doubt that he will help the Pittsburgh pitchers and also will steady the whole team.

Dental Truck Is Provided for the United States Army.

The government has recently been presented with a dental truck which is remarkable for its completeness and the ingenuity of its design. It is illustrated in an article in Popular Mechanics Magazine. Attached to either side of the body and mounted on frames that fold up, jackknife fashion, are tents that can be opened quickly when the car is at rest. These are used as living quarters for the men in charge and for professional work. One is equipped with a portable dental chair and an oil heater.

The body of the car is equipped with a regulation dental chair, a gas-administering outfit, spacious cabinets for instruments, a washbasin, thirty-gallon water tank, rotary pump, etc. Acetylene gas is supplied from compression tanks for lights, a heater and a brazing torch. Storage batteries supply current for auxiliary lights, a dental lathe and an electric engine.

Tornadoes and Cyclones

Storms as Defined by the U. S. Weather Bureau

Weather men define a tornado as a violent windstorm, with rain or hail, thunder and lightning, in which the air masses whirl with great velocity around a central core, while the whole storm travels across the country in a narrow path at high speed. The thunder and the whirling motion have given rise to two theories of the derivation of the word, as to whether it is derived from the Spanish "tornada," a thunderstorm, or from the Latin "tornare," to turn.

A cyclone, in the definition of the weather bureau, is not neeessarily a windstorm of great velocity, but rather a widespread storm that moves with no great speed. Its width may cover several states. This cyclone, or area of low pressure—indicated as "low" on the weather map—gives conditions essential to tornadoes. Many cyclones never develop a tornado, but a tornado never develops without the cyclone, and almost invariably the tornadoes occur in the southeast quarter of the low area. About 120 cyclones pass across the United States each year, moving in a general way from west to east. They are of great benefit because they induce movement of surface air from the south and southeast, and the rainfall that makes the great interior valleys a rich agricultural region is dependent upon these southerly, moisture-bearing winds.

Practically all of the cyclones of the warm season give rise at some time or place to thunderstorms or hail or violent winds. These winds may be violent enough to cause destruction, but unless they have the whirling column of air they are not tornadoes. In the East it is not always easy to distinguish the funnel-shaped cloud, but the lay of the debris after a storm will tell whether there has been a twisting motion.

Tornadoes almost invariably move in an easterly direction and generally from southwest to northeast. The average length of the path of destruction is about 25 miles, and this path may not be continuous, if the funnel cloud is not in contact with the earth during its whole course. Sometimes it rises and goes for a considerable distance before descending again.

Living on Vegetables.

There is at least one family in England which can snap its fingers at Lord Rhondda and whose members are not to be found in food queues. The head of the family recently wrote to a London newspaper that himself, wife and family of four have lived for 14 weeks wholly on raw vegetable salads made of grated turnips, carrots, parsnips, beets, cabbages, etc., together with fruit salads, toast and porridge and says that they are all much healthier as a result. They use neither tea nor coffee, and grow their own vegetables, and so may be regarded as the most independent family in England.—New York World.

New Asparagus Strain.

A new strain of asparagus that is larger, more uniform and more productive than the old varieties and in addition is highly disease-resistant, has been developed through ten years of work by a plant breeder in the bureau of plant industry. Introduction of the new strain is expected eventually to stamp out the "rust," a destructive disease that swept over the country a few years ago.

Saved From Deadly Cobra.

A seven-foot cobra interrupted a game of golf between two military officers at Nungaladon, India, a few days ago.

The big snake attacked Maj. Williams of the Rangoon battalion military police, its fangs entering the leg of his trousers but fortunately not touching his skin.

Lieutenant Colonel Obbard, commissioner of Pegu, ran to his friend's assistance, and before the snake could strike again he killed it with his mashie.

UGH! A DOSE OF NASTY CALOMEL

It salivates! It makes you sick and you may lose a day's work.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.—Adv.

Poet as Lawmaker.

Signor d'Annunzio, Italy's poet-idol and political leader, comes nearest of all men to justifying the dictum of Fletcher of Saltoun regarding the power of the poet as a lawmaker. For d'Annunzio has "sung" Italy into war by his own ballads. In order that Fletcher may not suffer from the usual misquotation, his actual words may be here set down. They are taken from an "Imaginary Conversation:" "I knew," he says, "a very wise man so much of Sir Christopher's sentiment that he believed if a man were permitted to make all the ballads he need not care who should make the laws of a nation."—London Chronicle.

It Works! Try It

Tells how to loosen a sore, tender corn so it lifts out without pain.

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.

This drug is called freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This drug freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels them without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. If your druggist don't have freezone have him order it for you.—Adv.

GREATEST CHANCE A MAN EVER HAD

Can Help Himself, His Boy and His Country by Buying Liberty Bonds.

WE MUST ALL DO OUR BEST

Scores of Things We Can Do Without Which Seem Necessities and Yet Are Really Luxuries — Get Into the Fight.

By EDWARD BOK.
Editor of the Ladies' Home Journal.

Each time a new Liberty loan is announced we should hail it with pleasure. For years we have used the phrase "as good as a government bond" as indicating the safest investment possible, but before the war it was impossible for the average investor to secure a government bond. Periodically an issue was made, but it was so quickly subscribed for by the bankers that the small investor had little chance. Now we all have a chance, and a chance at all that we can afford to buy.

It will, of course, be argued by some when the fourth Liberty loan is announced that they have not as yet paid for the third loan bonds for which they subscribed. That may be true, but that is no reason why we should fail to subscribe again. Before the fifth loan can be issued we will have paid for the third loan bonds and begun paying for the fourth loan bonds that we subscribed for. Thus if we go on we will have a distinct part in each loan, have each month put aside a sum for the best investment on earth, have acquired the steady habit of saving, and when the last loan is announced and we shall have taken part of that and paid for it, we shall find ourselves in possession of a collection of bonds that will make us proud of the share we took in the war and have a comfortable "nest egg" in the bargain.

Must Do Our Best.

Never, really, was there such a stimulant given us to do without the nonessential and save. Not only is it saving for our boys and helping them to fight, but it is saving for them when they come home and saving for ourselves. Is there, in imagination, a prouder parent than that father or mother, who when his or her boy comes home from serving his country, can open a drawer and pull out a neat little package of Liberty loan bonds? That is what we mean by "keeping the home-fires burning;" by "backing up our boys," by "doing out bit." The only point is that we should change the latter to "doing our best." We've done our "bit" in the past loans; in this fourth loan we should do our "best." We want to be able to show our boy a bond or two or three in each loan; not have him ask: "Oh, didn't you get in on the fourth?"

It isn't as if we can't do it. We can, if we will only set our minds to the job of real saving. There are scores of things we can do without which seem necessities and yet are really luxuries. Our boys "over there" are doing without them and offering their lives besides. We are not asked for the latter. All we are asked to do is to do without here something and there something, and by doing this we are patriots! And all the time while we are adjudged patriots we are investing our money in the safest thing on earth and getting a good interest on it in the bargain. Frankly, can you "beat it?" It is something to ask a man to give money, without a return, and be a patriot. But in these Liberty loans all the government asks that a man shall loan is his money, safely guarded and at a good interest, and still he is a patriot.

Must Lend or Be Taxed.

Another point we must remember, taking this whole matter simply on an economic basis: That the more of these Liberty bonds we buy the less taxes we will have to pay. The government must have the money to keep up the war and feed and clothe our boys. This year it needs about $24,000,000,000. This amount it must get from the people. And if the people won't loan in bonds, it must take in taxes. Hence, the more we loan the less we will have to give.

It's all a question of saving, saving, saving—and never was there a better time to begin than now with the Liberty loan bonds as an attraction. The man who has no ready money with which to buy the bonds is the very man that the government wants above all other classes of men to loan it his money; his money saved here with a dollar and there with a quarter. It is the finest kind of money to give to our country: the money that we save by some act of self-denial. It isn't the money that we have in the bank that we want to draw out and buy Liberty bonds with; it is the money that next winter we can save, month by month. That is really helping your boy "over there;" helping the government to keep him warm and fit, and, incidentally, helping yourself to lay by the most valuable pieces of paper that you can buy, put away, and all the time getting a good interest on them.

Black Eye for the Hun.

Seventeen million individual subscribers were part of the third Liberty loan. That means one in every six of the population of the United States. But there is no reason why with the coming fourth loan this should not be changed to one in every three persons in the United States and finally that every person in the United States shall own a bond. Fancy the state of mind of the German war lords if they were made to realize that every one of the one hundred millions of Americans were so determined to beat them that they had all invested with the one idea to beat them. Would the war continue another year? Most unlikely. Most of us ask each other or ourselves, "When will this war end?" There is no quicker way to end it than to make it possible for our government to throw into it every resource that we have. The moment that the Prussian war lords realize this fact, they will come to their senses. And the only way to bring this about is for you and me to do our part and to do it fully. This means to loan every cent we can to the government; hold nothing back, but give it our all. It isn't a question of when can we end the war; it is a question of when you or I end the war. It is what you and I do. It is the drop of water, multiplied by millions, that makes the deluge. It is what you and I do in our small way that, multiplied by the millions, makes for a united strength before which nothing can stand. Win the war we will, but when we win it depends upon us. "It can't be too soon for me," we say. Then let's get busy, real busy, and save and loan to our government what we save.

U-BOATS USE OIL CAMOUFLAGE

Submarine Commanders Try a New Trick, but 'Twas Quickly Found Out.

London.—Tricky German U-boat commanders have conceived a new plan designated to deceive crews of the allied submarine destroyers in the game of hide and seek in European waters. When a depth bomb is discharged and does not cripple or destroy the German undersea boat, as sometimes happens, a quantity of oil is released by some device of the submersible and quickly rises to the water's surface. The hope of the German U-boat captain is that the commander of the destroyer will see the oil, believe that the submarine has been wrecked and drop no more depth charges. Meantime, the German is endeavoring to escape. American and British commanders of destroyers and submarine chasers discovered the scheme of the Germans some time ago and since then have been dropping depth bombs in greater numbers than previously, using the oil as a guide to the general location of their target. "Oil camouflage" the American and British navy men call this latest German submarine trick.

WOMEN HANDLE BIG SHELLS

Young British Mother Settles Question of Their Physical Fitness to Do So.

Liverpool, Eng.—When women first were put to work in shell factories here they handled only the light field-gun shells. Later it became necessary for them to turn out larger shells, and doubts were raised as to whether the women were strong enough to handle them. A young mother settled the question.

"Let me heft the shell," she said, picking one up from the floor. "Aye," she commented, "this shell is a mite heavy, 'tis true, but it's not so heavy as my baby."

There is a shell factory in this district operated almost exclusively by the daughters of business and professional men. Many are young girls who had never done any kind of work other than needle work and cooking. The heavy work of the establishment is performed by the wives of sailors.

This is a nonprofit making factory and it is the reply of the Cunard company to the Germans for the sinking of the Lusitania.

FINDS SON AMONG WOUNDED

New York Woman In Paris Voluntarily Aiding Nurses Discovers Own Boy.

Paris.—A New York woman attached to the American Red Cross happened to be in Paris and volunteered to help in caring for the wounded coming in from the battle field. She was working busily when startled by a loud cry of "Mother!"

Turning, she saw her own son, a young lieutenant in the American army. He had been wounded in the leg by shrapnel. The first news she had had that her son was engaged in the battle was when she heard his cry. She obtained permission to accompany her son to a hospital. After seeing that he was attended to, she went back to the station to cheer, as she said, the boys who had no hope of finding a mother to welcome them.

The mother is a prominent social worker in New York, and has been doing Red Cross relief work among the refugees in France. Her work usually keeps her in the south of France.

FAILS TO REMOVE HIS HAT

Manager Knocks Down Employee and Then Hands Him "Blue Envelope."

Miami, Okla.—Because an employee of the Riverside park here would not take off his hat when the band played "The Star-Spangled Banner," Manager A. H. De Vaux knocked the offending lid off the man's head, after he had asked him three times to remove it. As the man stooped over to pick up the hat, Mr. De Vaux gave him a right uppercut to the jaw and he took the count. He also received a "blue envelope."

A WOMAN'S HEAD is level and her judgment good when she puts her faith in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There is no beauty without good health. Nobody expects to become really beautiful from the use of complexion beautifiers. Bright eyes, clear skin, and rosy cheeks, follow the use of the "Prescription."

All women require a tonic and nervine at some period of their lives. Whether suffering from nervousness, dizziness, faintness, displacement, catarrhal inflammation, bearing-down sensations, or general debility, the "Prescription" is sure to benefit. In tablet and liquid form.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets were first put in ready-to-use form nearly 50 years ago, and will always relieve the inactive liver and biliousness. Insist on getting Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—there is none so good.—Adv.

A Near Miss.

A British airman was flying alone over the Bulgar lines, busily using his camera. A whistle of machine-gun bullets disturbed him. He just saw an Albatross swooping down upon him from above and then he knew no more. When he recovered consciousness he found that he had dropped all the way from 6,000 feet to 2,000 feet, and that a bullet had passed through his neck—fortunately missing his vertebrae. He regained control of his machine and looked about for the Albatross. She was nowhere in sight, and evidently had prematurely decided that she had finally polished off the Englishman.

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Came to this Woman after Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Her Health

Ellensburg, Wash.—"After I was married I was not well for a long time and a good deal of the time was not able to go about. Our greatest desire was to have a child in our home and one day my husband came back from town with a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and wanted me to try it. It brought relief from my troubles. I improved in health so I could do my housework; we now have a little one, all of which I owe to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. O. S. JOHNSON, R. There are women everywhere who long for children in their homes yet are denied this happiness on account of some functional disorder which in most cases would readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such women should not give up hope until they have given this wonderful medicine a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of 40 years experience is at your service.

Sure, Knit

To All Chapters:

In a recent number of the Literary Digest was reprinted an article written by Samuel S. Dale and entitled, "Why Not to Knit." The writer states that in opinion hand-knit socks are made of "yarn that is soft and fluffy and lacking in durability," and that machine-knit socks made of "lower priced mixtures of cheaper wool, cotton and shoddy" are "immeasurably superior."

Such a statement hardly deserves an answer, but we are finding that the fact that it was reprinted in a periodical of the standing of the Digest has given it a weight that it does not deserve, and that the minds of some of our good workers are being disturbed by it.

The facts of the case are these: In every cantonment in this country, and with every Army division abroad, are representatives of the Red Cross whose duty it is to study the needs of the men in the army. In Paris is the French Commission, headed by James H. Perkins, and having on its staff some of the keenest of our American business men. Those men are in constant communication with General Perishing and the higher army officers. They report to the Red Cross War Council in Washington, composed of such men as Henry P. Davison, George B. Case, John D. Ryan, Harvey D. Gibson and Cornelius N. Bliss, Jr. In co-operation with the War and Navy departments and with the War Industries Board, these men determine the policy of the Red Cross and what its productive activities are to be.

When they make a statement of need, it is based on careful investigation, both of the need and of the available supply of raw material. They have recently asked American women to knit for the Army and Navy 6,000,000 pairs of socks, 2,300,000 sweaters and other knitted articles in proportion. They know what they are talking about when they make this request. There can be no question that the higher officials, responsible for the care of the American Army, want the Red Cross to knit the socks, and to knit them at once, and if the women of the Red Cross allow the irresponsible utterances of any individual to influence them to cease their knitting, some of our soldiers will be unprovided with sufficient socks when the winter comes on.

Yours very truly,

The Student and the New Draft

Enlistment in the army has been definitely suspended for the period of the war. This is a definite statement that has come from the War Department. This same will doubtless hold true for the navy also.

One of the purposes of this order is to prevent the enlistment of young men who ought to remain in college or ought to go to college to prepare themselves for positions as officers and technical positions in the service. During the coming year, the War Department estimates there will be 90,000 officers needed for the army and in order to get this number it is planned to enlist the colleges in the service of the nation in the training of young men for these positions. Young men can not be depended upon to enter this service in sufficient numbers to supply the demands of the army, because there seems to be a feeling that to do so is an attempt on the part of the young man to evade military duty as long as possible and so subjects him to the title of "slacker". The Government regards the matter in quite a different light, in view of the fact that it has plead with young men to stay in college and to enter college to prepare for these special duties and since so many are disregarding this plea it looks upon those who enlist as the real slackers, as they are not willing to heed the wishes of the nation. So they are not to be given any choice in the matter; if, thru mistaken ideas, they will not help the Government along the lines in which the need is desperate then they shall be compelled to do so.

The general plan of the S. A. T. C. is pretty well known. It is not so well understood that not only recent graduates of high schools may avail themselves of this plan but also those of some years back. It ought also to be emphasized that those who did not get enough recommended credits to enter college may be given an opportunity to enter a college which will accept them. Arrangements have been made for certain colleges which have the facilities to accept such. There are good reasons for such a plan but they need not be entered into here.

What the plans are in reference to high school boys who are eighteen and over is not so clear. It would seem that if they are not kept in school the colleges will get very few college men in another year, and if the war lasts for several years yet (and that is the basis of the present plans) these young men in high school must be conserved. Therefore I would advise the boys of the Campbell Union High School who are eighteen and over not to be overanxious and do something foolish; there is plenty of time yet to see how matters stand. If it should happen that they can not get the training they need in this high school it looks now as though it will be possible to make arrangements so that they may get the advantages of the S. A. T. C.

I have just gotten the latest information that is available in reference to these matters mentioned above. Some of it is old and some new. I shall be glad to meet any graduates and students and their parents and any other persons interested at the High School next Friday evening (August 30) at 8 P. M. Arrangements will be made there to keep those interested informed of all the new developments.

Stamp Perforation.

The perforation of stamps was first commenced in England in 1853, for receipt and draft stamps, and for postage stamps in 1854. Prior to that period stamps were separated by means of scissors or a knife or similar means and in some cases those who required many resorted to the use of a roulette, a kind of cogwheel furnished with small cutters, making a series of cuts between the stamps.

War Time Sweeteners

AMERICA has several excellent war time sweeteners that will be used largely during the shortage in the sugar supply.

They are maple sugar, syrups, honey and molasses and may be used in preparing desserts and other dishes requiring sweetening.

When a cup of syrup or honey is used to replace a cup of sugar the liquid in the recipes should be decreased one-fourth. One-third of a cupful of sugar is equivalent to one-third of a cup of honey, about one-half cup of syrup and about one-half cup of corn sugar. One-fourth of a cup of sugar is equal to about one-half cup of syrup or one-third cup of corn sugar. One tablespoon of sugar is equal to one tablespoon of honey, about one and one-half tablespoons of syrup and one and one-third tablespoons of corn sugar.

Sugar may be saved by the use of raisins, dates, figs, dried pears and fruit pastes used on the breakfast cereals.

Fruit marmalades, butters and jellies should be used to take the place of the ordinary sweetening at a meal and not as accessories to it. Fruits may be preserved without sugar. It may be added when sugar is more plentiful.

Preserving demands this year a thin syrup instead of a heavy syrup.

If sugar is used one-half of the amount may be replaced by another sweetener.

Drying is a means of preserving (without sugar) apples, cherries, strawberries and black caps.

When ready to use they may have added the needed sugar in the form of a syrup. When sugar is more plentiful fruit juices may be made into jellies or may be used as fruit juices with or without sugar, as beverages, fruit gelatins and frozen desserts.

Fresh fruits supply the place of sugar in the diet. They should be used freely. Desserts where sugar is scarce may be made of gelatins, junkets, custards, puddings and cakes.

Lights and the Color Scheme.

Did you ever wish that you could get electric light bulbs to match the color scheme of your room? If so, you may be glad to know, if you have not already discovered the trick for yourself, that you may color them at home to suit your own taste. It is very simple. Just buy some water-color paints, a soft brush, and set to work. You may paint them any shade that you desire, and get a lovely effect of softened light through the painted glass. For instance, if your living room is done in shades of brown and yellow, you can get a beautiful sunshiny light through bulbs painted a delicate yellow.—Christian Science Monitor.

Refining of Metals.

A smelting and refining company handles nearly all metals excepting iron in producing brasses, bearing metals, solders, type metals, etc., using copper, tin, lead, zinc, antimony, aluminum nickel, manganese bronze, phosphor copper and tin and bismuth. The daily production includes 40 miles of wire solder, 100,000 pounds of brass ingots, 50,000 pounds of babbitt and three miles of lead pipe. The refining each day aggregate 40,000 pounds of copper, 30,000 pounds of zinc, and 30,000 pounds of lead.

A Novel Treatment.

Wherever there is a bay window one invariably associates it with a window seat. A departure from this is a broad window shelf to hold here and there a potted plant, or a book or two. The one drawback to this feature is that one is too apt to clutter it with bric-a-brac. If the broad expanse of shelves is kept clear this treatment is both restful and decorative.
